OUR HISTORY

70TH ANNIVERSARY

THE CONVENTION

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Founded in 1948, ASEEEES is the leading international organization dedicated to the advancement of knowledge about Russia, Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and the Caucasus. With over 3,200 members, our global and multidisciplinary membership includes leaders from a multitude of fields including academia, government service, business, NGOs and much more. ASEEEES serves as a center for information, with over 10,000 following our news and announcements around the world. ASEEEES' premier publication, Slavic Review, has a subscription of 3,900, with nearly 5,000 readers receiving NewsNet five times a year.

2018 is a momentous year for ASEEEES, as we mark the 70th anniversary of our founding and convene our 50th Annual Convention. Join us as we celebrate the achievements in Slavic, East European, and Eurasian studies and make a commitment to its future.

KEY MOMENTS IN ASEEEES HISTORY

- 1948 AAASS is founded on June 1
- 1960 AAASS becomes a full-fledged membership organization; Slavic Review launched
- 1964 First AAASS Convention is held in New York
- 1967 Second AAASS Convention
- 1969 AAASS moves from U of Illinois to OSU
- 1970 AAASS convention becomes an annual event
- 1982 Stanford University hosts AAASS office
- 1995 AAASS moves from Stanford to Harvard University
- 2010 AAASS changes its name to ASEEEES, now headquartered at the University of Pittsburgh
- 2018 50th ASEEEES Convention, 70th anniversary of its founding

ASEEEES' Annual Convention is the cornerstone of our programming. Over 2,600 attend each year from across the globe to exchange ideas, further scholarship and contribute to the analysis and understanding of this critical region.

Your sponsorship means:

- The opportunity to educate scholars and other specialists about your projects and programs
- One-on-one connections with attendees
- A high-profile venue with a global and influential audience for new books and publications
- Building relationships
- Outreach to attendees with online and print recognition before, during, and after the Convention
- Demonstrating your investment in and commitment to the future of the field

SPECIAL ONE-TIME ANNIVERSARY SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

In honor of the 70th Anniversary of its founding and the 50th Annual Convention, ASEEES is planning many celebratory moments this December.
